The Sporting Inn

The Sporting Inn is Plumas County's newest B&B in the heart of historic downtown Quincy. The five-studio, three-suite inn is located on the second story of a historic building that operated as a hotel in 1935. It has been refurbished and tastefully decorated with a Western and American Indian motif that includes 1880's portraits, Ansel Adams photography and the work of local artists. Suites include kitchens and baths, while the studios feature Europeanstyle vanities and terry-cloth robes. All rooms have Pendleton blankets, televisions and wireless Internet access. A spacious dining room and lounge offer guests afternoon treats and a full country breakfast buffet. The inn can accommodate a small conference of up to 25 people. Box lunches are available for guests heading out for day excursions. Views from some rooms overlook the Plumas County Courthouse, a four-story marble building built in 1921. The inn is walking distance to a museum, theater, gallery, library, restaurants and shops. The Sporting Inn is dog-friendly and is located just a mile from Quincy's Gansner airport, with pickup service available. Contact: The Sporting Inn, (877) 710-4300 or (530) 283-4300, www.thesportinginn.com.

The Titan—Luxury Houseboating at Shasta Lake

The houseboat capital of the world has a new addition to its fleet. The Titan is Jones Valley Resort's extraordinary new houseboat and is a triple-deck, 65-foot vessel that sleeps 22 people comfortably. The Titan offers the finest in comfort and entertainment including a widescreen TV, home theater system, tracking satellite, fireplace and full wet bar with a temperature-controlled wine cabinet, all integrated in just the main salon. The main deck has four private staterooms, two full baths, and the second story, created to offer privacy and space, provides one private stateroom and one master suite with its own entertainment system, coffee maker, fridge, microwave and private deck area. All staterooms have flat screen TVs, DVDs and XM capability. Guests can relax in the sunken eight-person hot tub or take an exhilarating ride down the enclosed spiral tube waterslide.
